In 2017 the Wodonga Senior Secondary College continued to provide outstanding education and wellbeing opportunities and support to our students.

As you will see from the pages and video links contained in this e-magazine our students have once again excelled in the many diverse activities they have engaged in during the year. Not only have they realised success in their academic pursuits but in a whole range of other social and community activities. We congratulate our students on their achievements and the genuine pride they continually demonstrate as they attend Wodonga Senior Secondary College.

During the year we established a high tech outside STEM (Science Technology Engineering and Maths) learning space and expanded our student support services to include a medical doctor and nurse as we incorporated a fully serviced clinic in the college.

On behalf of our community I acknowledge the contribution of all staff for their tireless efforts in providing assistance to our students throughout the year.

In particular there are two staff I wish to acknowledge who will be retiring at the end of this year and to thank them for her outstanding service to the college and education in the state. Pam Oakes as a former student of Wodonga High School who returned as a teacher, Leading Teacher, Assistant Principal and Acting Principal of the college has made significant contribution to education in Wodonga. Trish Croome joined the Wodonga High school staff in April 1977 as librarian. She has maintained this position ever since and during that time help countless numbers of student and teachers with resources and library skills.

After forty four years of service we wish Pam and Trish all the very best for a long and happy retirement.

May I conclude by once again thanking Nicholas Quihampton and his team for all their hard work in bringing together the highlights of our 2017 school year into this year's digital school magazine.

This year Indigo, has yet again won the athletics carnival. By taking out a double sweep, winning their fifth in a row. The day was full of activities, both on and off the track as people participated in the novelty events, ranging from fashions on the field to tug-o-war. The athletic ones amongst us went out and did the track and field events, to which some people tried their hardest and others just did it to get points for their team. After all, every point counts.

Indigo has increased the winning streak to five in a row, after being declared outright winners of the 2017 WSSC Swimming Carnival on Friday 24th February.

Fierce competition throughout the day, saw several records very close to being broken with a record from 1995, within seconds of being broken by Sam Waite in the under 20 Year 50 metre Freestyle. Teagan Roberts was also only seconds from the 16 year old 50 metre Freestyle record set in 2007.

Novelty events during the day also provided an opportunity for all students to participate in the festivities with Fashions on the Field proving popular once again. The Patterson Ninja, Caitlyn Reagan dominated the competition outperforming the combined effort of the Sumo Girls from Indigo, Paterson and Bogong.

The annual Year 12 Bombing event also wowed the crowd with the competition taken out by Portia Stowers and Bailey Jones both marvelling the crowd with their technique and style. The Olympic Spirit Award was won by Shannon Wilson for his consistent encouragement and participation across the day, culminating in a winning performance in the relays, earning valuable points for Fraser.

Indigo was outright winners finishing on 1214 points, with Fraser finishing second on 1083 points, Bogong finished third with 934 points, and Paterson finished in fourth place on 552 points.

The real question that everyone is now asking is can Indigo make it five in a row for Athletics too, or will they finally be knocked from their perch. Every point counts, so be there to support your team on Thursday March 30th.

Marngrook Tournament

Students from four schools in the region came together, playing an indigenous game called Marngrook last Thursday. More than seventy students were involved in the tournament, which was organised as part of the Koori Graduate Program class and their impact project.

The group have done a fantastic job organising the event and it is hoped the Marngrook tournament will become an annual fixture for the schools involved.

It's game day, students are preparing for their first match of the day

Experiencing Culture Through Games

Students from Bandiana Primary School learnt about Aboriginal culture yesterday. Graduate Program students from the College ran indigenous game sessions at the school as part of the event.

The Wodonga Senior Secondary College students aimed to educate the primary school students about the games played hundreds of years ago. As part of their impact project planning process the students practiced the games with students from classes at the College, before running them at the primary school.

Other activities run on the day included storytelling, damper making and spear throwing. The day was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Embrace Project

A group of VCAL students organised an event, which included a screening of the documentary 'Embrace' and guest speakers from Life Intended. The film follows the journey of identity and discovery for Taryn Brumfitt.

Guest presenters Amanda Hodgson and Kate Pallot with Year 12 VCAL students Sophia Voss, Mikaela Moncrieff and Emma Reid

Year 12 VCAL students Sophia Voss, Mikaela Moncrieff and Emma Reid organised the event for their peers, facilitating a supportive environment for the group to discuss positive body image, taking the first steps to embrace whom they are.

The group of VCAL students would like to thank and recognise the businesses within our community who showed generosity and a genuine interest in the Embrace fundraiser day held earlier in the week.

All the donations went to a good cause and we would like to show our appreciation to Skin Logics Albury, Breathe hair studio, aZesty Health, The Wodonga Beauty room, Pout Albury, Little Nest, Priceline Albury, The Buddha Shop Albury and Lorum Lashes.

In addition to the 'Embrace' event, a whole school gold coin donation casual clothes day was organised with all of the proceeds going to the Albury Wodonga Women's Centre.

Giant Jenga Project

Through our Personal Development classes, we were given the opportunity from our teacher, Sarah Kilner to plan and build a Giant Jenga sets for the kids at Melrose Primary School. Blake Wilson, Conner Lets, Conner Mcknight and I, took inspiration from WSSC's set of Giant Jenga and based our set off of theirs. Gaining measurements and design from the schools set, we began the planning and ordering materials. We soon began the construction process. The actual building did not take too long, however we did encounter some issues that arose which we were able to resolve. Once completed we delivered the set to Melrose Primary School students and taught them how to play.

Student Success - Josh Herrmann

I am Josh, a Year 10 VCAL Student and I have just completed Literacy intermediate in Term 4. I aspire to be a fabricator or a fitter and turner through the pathway of an apprenticeship, as I really enjoy making things from metal. VCAL has given me an opportunity to complete a two and a half year work placement at Visy Board Wodonga every Thursday and I really enjoy working there.

To be a successful VCAL student, I believe you have to be determined and willing to get in there and get the work done. One of the things that drives me to be successful is the goal of being able to gain an apprenticeship in my preferred trade.

My last piece of advice to be a successful VCAL student is that you must be determined enough to finish the work, even with a busy schedule outside of school hours, getting in the classroom and just doing your best will help you succeed as a VCAL student. Everything will be worth it once you receive that certificate of completion!

16 Days of Activism City Councils Campaign support

As part of my VCAL studies we have been helping the Albury Wodonga Councils to raise awareness about domestic violence and healthy relationships, for the 16 Days of Activism Campaign in November. As a part of my project, we have been using artwork from the Love Bites program that has been rolled out to local secondary schools, in a hope to make a change with how women are viewed and how we treat each other and using this artwork for display in the campaign.

This collation of artwork is then used to as displays on local bus pick ups, the buses themselves and at the Cube Wodonga. My part in the project has been as the group leader and to organise the other students with their projects and communication with the committee. I hope to make a difference in young people's lives by making sure that action is taken against Domestic Violence.

Makayla Good
Year 12 Student

The Japanese classroom has been a hive of activity this year with visits and many visitors. We have been very lucky to have Sayako Kimura assisting with lessons since April. She brings a fresh look at Japan to all that we study ensuring that we are not lingering on a Japan that no longer exists and always enthusiastically joins in classroom discussions allowing students a chance to regularly hear a native speaker. She will be sadly missed in December when she returns to Japan. The end of last term also saw a visit from a Momoko Suzuki from Aichi. Although we only saw her twice, her vibrant manner remains with us.

Having visitors allows the students to practice their self introduction skills by listening to someone else's introduction and then responding with information about themselves.

We saw our first participant in the North East Victoria Japanese Speech Contest. Mony Yem in Year 10 did our school proud with his learnt speech and an impromptu self directed speech. Congratulations Mony. Mrs Thorpe was a judge for a couple of the categories and was impressed by the level of dedication shown by many younger students to learn their set speeches off by heart and the flair with which they presented them to a rather large audience. She is excited to think those students may be continuing on to WSSC someday.

ANZAC Day

The College commemorated ANZAC Day for 2017 on Monday April 24th in Galvin Hall. This event involved speeches from the College captains, a catafalque party consisting of cadets from the College and The Last Post played by Ross Draper. Regimental Sergeant Major Don Waddingham gave a moving address to those in attendance.

Remembrance Day

2017 marks the 99th Anniversary of the signing of the Armistice which brought an end to world War I. Wodonga Senior Secondary College Students held a Remembrance Ceremony, which opened with 'Lest we forget', a song where the message is 'We'll not forget the promise made, you'll live forever eternal flame, and so we all remember them. Lest we forget', sung by Lee Kernaghan and Ben Roberts-Smith (Victoria Cross recipient).

Year 11 Captains Anthea, Jye and Mykelti led their peers through a meaningful ceremony today to reflect on the loss and sufferings caused by all wars and conflicts. Koorie Student Chloe Sergeant gave the Acknowledgement to Country. Army Cadets Jayden H, Jaidyn W and Cameron who attend our College stood guard at the flag providing their peers a glimpse into ceremonial proceedings for commemorative ceremonies.

Girls Write Careers

Senior girls from the College joined around two hundred other girls from the region by attending a writing workshop held in the first week of term.

This day long event aimed at encouraging the girls to think about their writing in different ways, aiming to teach them a thing or two about themselves along the way.

Students Seonaid Lee, Steph Vaivads, Alex Williams and Mya Hillas-Burns

The day consisted of workshops and presentations from guest speakers, which included students from the University of Wollongong, the ABC Radio and various authors where they spoke of the abundance of careers and pathways that are available and allow them to explore the applications of the writing skills developed during their high school years.

Year 10 student Seonaid Lee said, "The best part of the day for me was that I had the opportunity to ask questions from women that are following their passion for writing and have a career where it is used extensively".

Seonaid would like to become a journalist after completing her secondary school studies, learning that developing your vocabulary whilst in school will allow you to write greater and more captivating stories.

In June, twenty students from Wodonga Senior Secondary College participated in a week long workshop with award winning author, Alice Pung. The workshop was a result of an initiative of the Stella Schools Program to offer grants to regional schools to have a well-known author come and spend the week to be an author in residence. The participating students were asked to write a short story over the week, focusing on character, symbols, dialogue and setting.

The students were encouraged to find a strong voice in their writing and incorporate elements of a personal experience.

Solar Car Challenge

Students from Wodonga Senior Secondary College are gearing up for the 2017 Albury/Wodonga Solar Car Challenge event. With the event held in Term 4, the students are currently working through the process of designing, constructing and testing their solar car, to ensure that it is competition ready on race day.

Each competing team paired up with an industry professional, providing an opportunity for students to gain an insight into their industry working alongside them throughout this project. Over the past couple of months, the College team has been working with Matthew from Broad Spectrum to complete their car.

Fundraiser for Fiji

Year 10 student Bonnie Burgess has been raising funds to support a Rotary project based in Fiji. After being selected for the project, Bonnie has been raising funds to support her trip to Fiji next year, this has involved a recent Graduate Program Impact Project, where Bonnie and a group of her friends organised a sausage sizzle fundraiser.

Bonnie will be travelling to Fiji next year with a group of twelve other students, with an aim to work with the locals and supporting them within their community.

"The students will be helping out with the duties within the community, spending some time in the local community centre working with school children, teaching them how to read and other various skills" Said Bonnie.

The College would like to congratulate Bonnie on her efforts so far and wish her all the best with this project next year.

Duke of Edinburgh - Yacht Club

Duke of Ed students completed a module of their award by organising a two day adventure camp where they learnt many new skills working as a team.

Duke of Edinburgh - Tree Plant

The community service module was up next for the Duke of Ed students as they assist the Wodonga Council in planting trees at Les Stone Park.

Social Enterprise Success

Year 11 Graduate Program (GP) students are aiming to make a difference by using their passion for design and technology to raise funds for Camps Cambodia.

The group started by learning about the concept of a social enterprise and that it is important, with this in mind they found a worthy charity and after a bit of brainstorming, the group decided that they could create some designs and using a heat transfer method they could be put onto shirts to sell to their peers.

The process has not been without it's challenges though, the group are still dialling in the temperature setting for their press and finalising their designs before they launch.

Multicultural Day

Multicultural day has been running at WSSC on an annual basis over the past three years. The day aims to educate students of the different cultures present in our own society within Australia and across the world.

Our own multicultural day brings together our school cohort, both international and local students and staff, in order to spread diversity and form closer relationships within the school to enhance the culture and wellbeing of students. Over the years, the day has always had a vast array of different engaging activities for the students to be involved in.

EAL Snow Trip

EAL students attended a trip to Falls Creek experience on Thursday 3rd August. The students had an amazing time and just loved the snow and learning how to cross country ski. This is the 5th annual trip to Falls Creek and it is a real highlight for the year for the College EAL group. Thank you to the staff involved for helping supervise and teach students to ski.

Wodonga's Multicultural Peer Support Group having a great time at Falls Creek!

Refugee Week

The College celebrated refugee week with games and student led presentations on June 29th, during the Graduate Program. Some recently resettled students shared stories about their time adapting to life within Australia and some of the barriers that they have had to overcome moving to a new country.

One particular presentation by a group of students shared the great organisations within our region that are working to settle new refugees within our community.

National Science Week

The labs were alive during National Science week this year.

Victoria University Science Roadshow

Students got hands-on with science when the Victoria University Science Roadshow came to the College, completing various chemistry experiments to further enhance their learning of the concepts covered in the classroom.

Psychology

Defence Students Bounce Back

Forty-five teenagers from families with a current or ex serving member of the ADF from Wodonga Middle Years College Huon & Feltrimber Campuses, Wodonga Senior Secondary and Catholic College Wodonga set out to exert some physical activity for Veterans Health Week.

After the safety briefing, it was all on and the energy levels were high. Young people bounced and climbed, swung and jumped and barriers broke down of which school each were from. The competitive nature in some arose and Supa Dodge ball and Supa Slam Dunk Basketball became games of defensive and offensive operations. Only the strong would survive!

Conversations climbed in volume as the day went on and the young people climbed to new heights, as they challenged themselves physically with climbing the Rock Walls, Tetris stack and the High Ropes Courses.

The Competition increased as we went school versus school on the Climbing and Ropes course. Then we had a Brother from Middle Years play off against his older Bro from Senior. It was all on! Lots of laughs and cheering helped us work up a huge appetite for a delicious healthy lunch. We dived into platters of wraps and subs, loaded with salads, hams and salamis. The chatter increased as new friends were made from other schools and young people added friends to their real life, face to face friends list.

A huge thanks to Department of Veterans Affairs 'Veterans Health Week' for providing us with a most wonderful physical activity and healthy lunch.

Organised by Defence Transition Mentors: Jacqui Boehringer (WSSC), Holly Rodway (WMYC) and Carl Rogalski (CCW)
