Study Skills for May

Ever leave your assignments until the last minute? Well here are 2 reasons to start work on your assignments immediately:

Get your brain thinking about the topic - At the very least, read through the requirements of the assignment on the day you get your assignment. Even if you are not thinking about it directly, your subconscious will be hard at work.

Discover other resources - You could also ask your local librarian for any additional direction on where to look for resource material for your assignment. Librarians know how to help people access relevant information, in books, journals

Digital Photography Camp

In week three of this term a group of Year 10 digital photography students braved the cooling climate at the Pretty Valley Camping area above Falls Creek. Their mission was to utilise photography techniques that they would not be able investigate during school hours.

Unfortunately the weather was quite overcast and prevented the students from completing a few of the activities. This escalated in the middle of the night when the winds picked up and nearly took our tents with them. Although the elements were slightly against us, all the students braved the the conditions and produced some exciting images.

They did manage to explore processes to paint with light, long exposure, motion and reflections in landscape. Despite missing the opportunity to photograph some amazing sunsets from the top of the mountains, the students thoughly enjoyed themselves and aquired a new understanding of photography techniques.
